The speaker explains about Social etiquette refers to the unwritten rules and standards that govern social behaviour and interaction. In the context of our roles and responsibilities towards social distance in college, social etiquette includes maintaining a safe physical distance from others, wearing a mask while in public areas, washing hands frequently, and avoiding large gatherings or close contact with people who are sick. These behaviours are important for preventing the spread of germs and protecting the health and well-being of others in the college community. It is important to follow these social etiquette guidelines in order to promote a safe and respectful environment for everyone.
