The speaker explains about important to maintain social etiquette to keep others safe during the COVID-19 pandemic. In the near future, it is likely that social distancing measures and the wearing of masks will continue to be recommended. It is also important to practice good hygiene, such as washing your hands regularly, to prevent the spread of the virus. It is also a good idea to avoid large gatherings and to stay home if you feel unwell. By adhering to this social etiquette, we can help to slow the spread of the virus and protect others in our community.
