Description of the Event : On 29-08-2024, five NSS volunteers from the AIML Department visited Girmapur Government School to conduct awareness sessions on Good Touch–Bad Touch and environmental conservation. The volunteers explained personal safety concepts in a simple and age-appropriate manner, encouraging students to confidently report any unsafe situations. Interactive discussions and activities enabled children to express their thoughts openly and build self-assurance. As part of the environmental initiative, saplings were planted within the school premises to promote greenery and sustainability. Students were motivated to care for the plants and maintain cleanliness, fostering a sense of responsibility toward their surroundings. The program effectively integrated safety education with environmental awareness, strengthening community outreach and student engagement.
